BlancOne®: A New Milestone in tooth whitening

The BlancOne® treatments are the result of a 15-year research leading to a new approach to tooth whitening, based on the development of new photochemical technologies.

It's a proven fact that the light emitted by whitening lamps does not increase effectiveness of the peroxides used during tooth whitening, it only slightly accelerates the reaction by means of the heat transferred to the gel.

BlancOne® photochemical gels, instead, include two special components, in addition to the peroxide, which can break it down in such an effective way and at a speed which cannot be achieved by the chemical reactions of the traditional whitening systems.

- PHOTOSENSITIZERS, special colouring agents which use the photons emitted by a lamp with specific wave lengths and reach an "excited state" transmitting a considerable amount of energy to the whole system.
- CATALYSTS, which synthesize this energy and trigger a series of chain reactions hyper accelerating the breaking down of the peroxides.

This "explosive" energy mechanism can develop, in a few minutes, a different kind of oxygen: SINGLET OXYGEN, an atomic form of non-radical oxygen, capable of performing a much faster, deeper and safer oxidising action, compared to the free radicals (ROS) produced by the traditional whitening systems.

BlancOne® CLICK: the tooth whitening treatment which will completely change your practice

The innovative BlancOne® technology has allowed to develop BlancOne® CLICK, a revolutionary and unique tooth whitening treatment; it's fast and can be combined to the hygiene session.

Effective at low concentrations

For the first time we have made in-office whitening effective even at low concentrations of hydrogen peroxide (<6%), in compliance with the European Directive 84/2011, the most advanced set of regulations for the safety of consumers.

No gingival barriers

We developed the only in-office whitening treatments which do not need protection for the mucous membranes, removing the most difficult passage of the procedure which can be carried out by anybody in a simple and safe way.

Effective in only 10 minutes

Thanks to BlancOne® photochemical technology, the breaking down of carbamide peroxide at 16%, which normally takes hours, is hyper accelerated in a few minutes.

The treatment is much faster and comfortable and can be combined to the dental hygiene session.

No pain or sensitivity

Thanks to their very fast action, all the BlancOne® in-office treatments are not aggressive and do not dehydrate the enamel, they do not induce pain or sensitivity.

in fact they are the only ones on the market without desensitizing and remineralising agents.
